ADVANCING PRICE TREND CONTINUES

Many Popular Shares Exceed Previous High Records of Year; Rails in General Demand

New York, March 12. — The advancing trend of prices on the stock exchange was continued last week with occasional setbacks, many popular shares exceeding previous high records of the year.

Speculative issues overshadowed investment stocks, both in activity and extent of gains. The movement derived much of its stability, however, from the progressive demand for dividend-paying rails.

The most constructive influence was the higher-priced schedules adopted by a number of independent steel manufacturers, their action inspiring confidence in the immediate future of that industry. Similar tendencies were observed in the automobile and copper trades, and among foodstuffs the better inquiry for sugar was accompanied by an upward revision in the raw and refined in the raw and refined products.

Traders ignored the many unfavorable 1921 financial statements, nearly all of which revealed drastic reduction of inventories. Almost the only favorable exhibit for that period was the statement of Studebaker, which reported the best year in its history.

Tonnage movements on leading railway systems were generally in excess of the corresponding week of the last two years.

Lower money rates stimulated the market's speculative operations, and accelerated the underwriting of new corporate offerings.

Foreign exchanges sustained sharp reversals, mainly in consequence of the British crisis in India.

"Cats and Dogs"

Isn't your menagerie about large enough?

So many people think they have investments when all they have is speculations.

An investment always safeguards the principal and is satisfied with a reasonable and regular return.

A speculation recklessly invests the principal in order to secure possible but not probable large returns. And these are usually irregular. That's why so many men—19 out of every 20—are objects of charity in their old age.

One man calls these "wild-cat" speculations "cats and dogs"—have you any?

Every little while there's a Ponzi—because, as he says "there's one born every minute."

Most of the people who lost their money with Ponzi would have refused to invest in anything safe and legitimate because it would have been too slow.

How many "cats and dogs" have you?

Isn't your menagerie large enough?

NORMALS WIN AND LOSE

DEFEAT BINGHAMTON HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS IN THRILLING BATTLE, 18 TO 16.

Score Read 28 to 18 in Favor of Susquehanna in Trough Game at Pennsylvania Town Saturday Night — Albany Y. W. C. A. Plays Return Game Here Next Saturday.

Though defeated at Susquehanna, Pa., Saturday night, the members of the first girls' team of the Oneonta Normal returned home yesterday afternoon with the laurels of victory upon their brows—for it was indeed a glorious victory at Binghamton Friday night when they triumphed over the B. S. H. S. girls' squad, 18 to 16. The local girls now are "all set" for their closing game of the season, which will come in the form of a "grand finale" at the Normal gym next Saturday night, with Albany Y. W. C. A. as opponents.

The Binghamton game was without doubt the most thrilling ever played at a Parlor City court in a long time and was the most brilliant victory scored by the O. N. S. girls this season. When the Bingo girls were here earlier in the winter it was an easy victory for the Ontonags, but they have strengthened their line-up considerably since then and had a fine working team on the floor Friday night. The game was exciting all the way, with the Binghamton girls showing the way in the first period, only to lose out in the closing session.

When the second half opened, the Normal girls had the small side of the 12 to 8 score. It was a hard fight, but the Ontonags nevertheless succeeded in outpointing their opponents until with but a few seconds to go the score stood 18 to 16. Then it was that Alice Mahon came in with a timely shot from the field, and the ball had scarcely dropped to the floor when the whistle was blown and the game ended at 18-16. Mahon, who but recently took her place in the Normal line-up, played an excellent game throughout at right forward and is entitled to credit for the victory. Annis was there when it came to ringing the bell baskets and also got in two field shots. The pass work was exceptionally good. Golden, at center, being especially effective in keeping the ball in Oneonta territory. All in all, it was a great victory and the Normal girls are to be heartily congratulated.

Susquehanna Wins Rough Game.

The game at Susquehanna Saturday night with the Laurel Athletic association team was very rough. In marked contrast to the cleanly-fought Binghamton contest the night before, The Pennsylvanians won "over the Normals, 28 to 18.

The Susquehanna girls came out on the court with the apparent intention of winning, even if it took "rough house" to do it. In fact, it resembled a football game more than it did basketball, when it came to "tackles" and other strenuous tactics. Handicapped by the professional boys' rules under which the game was played, the Normal girls fought an uphill game and finally succumbed to the sheer physical strength of their opponents. Oneonta was in the lead at half-time but scored only four points in the last round.

Albany Here Saturday.

The Normal girls' season will come to a close next Saturday night at the local court when they will have the last Y. W. C. A. quintet from the "Capital City" as their opponents. At Albany on March 4, the O. N. S. team was defeated, 27 to 14, and the local girls are making extensive preparations in the hope that they will be able to turn the tide this week.

If the locals win this game, they will have an excellent record for the season, as they will have been beaten but once in the scheduled games. The Susquehanna game was not on the original schedule and it was decided to take the trip into Pennsylvania simply because Susquehanna is but a short distance from Binghamton.

Assembly Committee Finds Shortage of Help Exists at Chenango County Institution, and Immediate Legislative Action Is Begun

Albany, March 12.—A report of an inspection by the assembly committee on soldiers' homes of the institutions at Bath and Oxford—the first report ever submitted in the history of the legislature—already has resulted in legislative action intended to correct some conditions criticized in the document.

The report, which was made public Friday by Assemblyman, Forman E. Whitcomb, Republican of Broome, chairman of the committee, declared that since the inspection was made last month "appropriations have been made to carry out recommendations."

A paragraph from the report dealing with conditions at Bath and recommendations made to correct them, for which appropriations were speedily made, declares:

"Electric wiring is in a very unsafe condition and obsolete, a menace to both lives and property. Plumbing is in an unsanitary condition due largely to escaping gases probably resulting from obsolete or worn out plumbing. Sewerage disposal conditions have been condemned by the state board of health and your committee advises that it in the particular matter of electric wiring, plumbing and sewerage disposal be remedied without unnecessary delay.

"Since our visit appropriations have been made to carry out our recommendations," the report adds.

The report also declares that a "shortage of help" exists at the Oxford home and that it had made it necessary for the doctor and trained nurses to assume no small part of mental labor."

The committee report compliments the management of both institutions for "efficiency."

The report also reveals that fewer than 200 of the veterans are left at the home at Oxford, and that more than half of these are victims of ailments of old age. It is also pointed out that only about 500 veterans are left at Bath and that many of these likewise suffer from illness.

The average age of the inmates is 80 years, the report said.

Th commandants at both institutions, especially commandant Carl J. E. Tillison at Bath, are praised for their zeal and the "neatness, order, and care given the institution and the people whose home is there."

The boards of directors of both institutions also are praised as "wide-awake and conscientious."

The report recommended that an appropriation also be made for competent and efficient help at Oxford.

The inspection was the first made since 1917, the report said.

MAN, WIFE AND BABY TRUDGE ACROSS U. S. SEEKING WORK

Hoboken N. J., March 12.—Trudging across the continent from San Francisco with a 40 pound baby in his arms, Percy K. Hanton, a Canadian war veteran, arrived here Friday with his wife, Hanton, a swimming instructor and house painter, said he had sought in vain for a job that would enable him to settle down somewhere along the road.

He had only 15 cents when he left San Francisco, he said, but managed to get enough jobs to keep the family in food on the trip and leave $1 in the family purse when they reached Hoboken. Automobileists gave the family a few lifts, he said, but most of the distance was covered on foot.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON ENDS

Schenevus High School Scores Double Victory over Middleburgh in Closing Card of the Season.

Schenevus, March 12.—The Schenevus quintet took the last Friday evening and emerged with the big end of a 28-18 score. The game was fast throughout and at times the outcome was doubtful, but the local boys would not be denied and soon rolled up a safe lead. Webster showed decided class for Schenevus, while Sact alone for the visitors.

In the "prelim," the second team handed the Middleburgh "seconds" a wallop which left them with the short end of a 28-9 score. The "kids" showed some real stuff and took their local supporters by surprise at their ability to cage the sphere. Not being content with bringing home the bacon they kept the whole hog.

This double victory ends a very successful season on the local court, giving the first team a final count of ten games won with only four defeats.

Bad Rick in Windows.

Nearly every business contributes bits of specialized knowledge to the common fund. It will strike many persons as a curious piece of information that plate glass insurance companies class windows with black letters on them as "extra hazardous" risks. The explanation given is that a black surface absorbs the sun's rays. By this means, it is stated, an unequal expansion is produced throughout the plate; and under the influence of a sudden gust of cold or any other quick change of temperature a strain is developed which may break the glass.

Success Requisites.

To be a real go-getter you must attempt and succeed in a great many things common folks dodge. To be able to see values where others see loss brings riches and power. Folks call it luck. It's merely the asset of the go-getter. The more you do the more you can do. Success oils the machinery and tempers the tools that develop power. It's marshalling resources and turning them to account that marks you an outstanding figure — Exchange.

NAVY OFFICERS GO TO COLLEGE

Picked Group Enter Classes in Engineering School.

STUDY ADVANCED SUBJECTS

United States, Japanese and Argentine Navies Represented in Columbia University Classes—Those From Annapolis Have All Seen War Service—To Be Fitted to Meet Rapidly Expanding Problems of Naval Operation.

Officers from the United States, Japanese and Argentine navies form a picked group of engineers who are pursuing advanced training in the engineering schools of Columbia university in New York. This is a development of the American policy of schooling a certain percentage of naval officers in advanced engineering to fit them to meet the rapidly expanding problems of naval construction and operation.

To co-operate with the university and the navy, Columbia announces that a group of experts from a big electric and manufacturing company have been engaged as special lecturers on the steam turbine. These experts will work under Harry L. Parr, associate professor of mechanical engineering. Enlisting the aid of outside corporations is now regarded as a fixed part of Columbia's engineering program.

"To secure a properly authoritative presentation of the highly technical subject of steam turbines," said Dean George B. Pegram, referring to the spring session, "it has been necessary for the department of mechanical engineering to seek outside assistance. There is convincing evidence of the soundness of the principle of part-time service for professional experts teaching advanced students."

Argentine Represented.

The Argentine navy is represented at Columbia this year for the first time. Fourteen United States navy officers, all lieutenants, are among the students. Officers studying in what is called the gas engine group will be capable of designing and operating submarines, airplanes and small auxiliary vessels. Those studying in the steam engine group will learn the operation of steam plants on large vessels such as superdreadnoughts. Students in electrical designing study the designing and plant use of all the auxiliary electrical apparatus on shipboard, such as lighting, raising the anchor and other phases of the uses of the 300 electrical motors on modern battleships.

A new group in electrical propulsion will study the machinery of boats like the California just put into commission which are propelled by electric machinery.

Commander J. O. Fisher is in charge of the men at Columbia as executive officer of the post graduate school of the navy, to which the students are officially attached. The headquarters of this school are at Annapolis, where Commander Fisher has a staff of officers and instructors and a large group of "student officers" undergoing various courses of special training, including another group preparing to come to Columbia next year.

Five Years' Service First.

The naval officers, said Walter L. Slichter, professor of electrical engineering, will receive the degrees of master of science after completing a year's study at Columbia. When they are selected for a course of training as professional engineers they enter upon a year's course of preparatory studies at Annapolis and are then sent to Columbia. They do not take up this course until they have seen about five years of service subsequent to graduation from the naval academy. The Annapolis group now studying at Columbia have all seen war service. Their actual student period is the same as that required of students in the Columbia engineering schools, to whom the engineering degrees are given at the end of six years, three of which are devoted to pre-engineering work in Columbia or some other college.

One of the group of naval officers at Columbia, Lieutenant Nagao Higuchi, is a non-matriculated student taking graduate work in electrical engineering. Lieut. A. Kunz of the Argentine navy is taking work in electrical design. He comes to Columbia through arrangements made between the United States and Argentine governments.

At Columbia it was said that action of the disarmament conference was not expected to alter the navy's plans for graduate instruction of officers.

CAUGHT "TAGGED" FISH

It Was the Second Taken in Mississippi River.

A "tagged" fish, the second taken this season of those tagged and released by the government at Lake City last September, has been caught traveling upstream. The government fisheries in an effort to learn the ways of the fish, tagged a number of them with small metal number tags.

A tagged white bass was caught 300 miles down stream from the Lake City lot.

At Sundby of Prescott, Minn., made the second catch 300 feet below the Prescott dambridge. It was a sand-pike 13½ inches long.

ATHLETIC DIRECTORS MEET

Sponsors of Oneonta Baseball Team Make Arrangements for Benefit Hamilton Gloe Club Concert—Transportation for Out of City Games Discussed.

Final arrangements for the appearance of the Hamilton College Musical club at the Oneonta theatre on March 24 for the benefit of the Community Athletic association were made at a meeting of the directors of the association held in the Chamber of Commerce offices yesterday afternoon. Tickets for the main floor at $1.10 each will be in the hands of members early this week. It is expected that the balcony will be reserved for students at the Normal and High schools. The Hamilton club has appeared in Oneonta several times and their concert here this year is being eagerly looked forward to by many. Word comes from Clinton that the clubs are fully up to their standard previous seasons and that a particularly pleasing program is being prepared for the Oneonta trip.

The directors also discussed the matter of transportation of the baseball team when games outside the city are played. This item was largely taken care of by private contribution of cars last year. It was decided to ask that for the transportation of men whenever they play out of town this year. The matter of having the association purchase a bus for this purpose was also brought up and an investigation will be made as to the advisability of the project.

The food and soft drink concession at the ball park was awarded to LaVerne Moffatt.

STATE OFFICERS TO SPEAK

Commander and First Vice Commander to be Present at American Legion Banquet Saturday Night—Mayor Miller to be a Guest.

In addition to State Commander Deegan, the American Legion will be honored at its annual banquet on Saturday evening with another state officer, First Vice Commander Kallam, a newspaper man of Chatham. Mayor C. C. Miller has also been invited and will probably be asked to address the Legionnaires. An invitation has been sent to Father Kelley, chaplain of the 25th division, but no word has yet been received from him. The banquet will be served in the drill hall of the armory, which will be attractively decorated for the occasion. Those in charge of the culinary end of the affair have stated that a feed of high quality, without frills but immeasurably better than the "alumgullion" of service days, will be provided. Company G band has donated its services for the occasion and will furnish the "digestive" music for the diners. Tickets will be on sale at the Legion meeting Tuesday night and will be placed in the hands of members for sale to those men not at the meeting.

Notice to the Public.

Believing that an obligation rests upon us not only to serve the public with the best coal we can secure at a fair price but to inform them as well when any unusual conditions arise in the coal business, conditions now indicate that we should announce that from the very highest authority we have it that only a miracle can prevent the suspension of the mines in the large majority of the mines on April 1 and that after March 25 no more anthracite coal will be shipped from the mines until something definite in the way of a settlement is reached.

There may not be a strike and there is not, coal must and will decline in price, but with the outlook as it is today, prudence says to have enough coal on hand to carry you through until the furnace is no longer needed. We will put forth our best efforts to supply our customers' needs as long as we are able to obtain the needed supplies. Oneonta Coal and Supply company. advt 1t

THE ONEONTA BASTILE

Inspector Shillinglaw Thinks Present Building Lacking in Comfort of Home—Details of Personal Impressions at Time of Visit—Is House in Locked Cell in Sight of Prisoners "Crucel and Unusual Punishment?"

Inspected February 17, 1922. C. C. Miller, mayor; Frank M. Horton, chief of police.

The population of Oneonta is about 11,600.

This jail is a one-story stone building situated on an alley in the rear of the city hall. It is entirely apart from the police station, excess being made by way of the basement of the city hall and across the yard. There are six steel cells with open fronts, tops and floors of steel mesh, one steel and rear. Each cell has one steel and rear. Each cell has one steel and rear. Each cell has one steel and rear.

There is a detention room on the second floor of the city hall. It has a toilet and lavatory, two cot beds with mattresses, pillows, blankets, sheets and pillow cases. Light and ventilation are obtained through a large window.

There were only 6 females and 3 juveniles arrested during the last three months, but when any are detained they are placed in charge of the Welfare officer. This room was clean.

At the time of inspection one of the cells was being used for the storage of confiscated liquor. Some other place should be found to store this stuff.

Lodgers are permitted to use the lockup, as many as seven having recently been housed there at one time. In the plans for this jail which the commission approved in 1916 provision was made for a lodgers' room in the basement of the city hall and room was set aside for such purpose but now it is apparently used for something else.

There is a space in the rear of each cell—between the cell and the wall—about one foot in depth. The prisoners and lodgers are in the habit of throwing papers and refuse through the back of the cells into this opening. The space is too narrow to permit a man to climb in to clean it out and the result is that this part of the lockup is particularly dirty. It can only be cleaned out by flushing in back of the cells with a fire hose. I was informed that the city hall janitor does not look after the lockup, a policeman being assigned to the task. The janitor should be made responsible, as it does not seem proper to take a police officer from his regular duties to perform this kind of work.

During the past fiscal year there were 254 lodgers accommodated and 627 arrests made, about 325 of the arrested persons being locked up. The greatest number of prisoners in the lockup at one time during the year was said to have been 6. It will be seen from the foregoing that if the lockup is to be used for prisoners and lodgers it is inadequate. When the cells were occupied by seven lodgers there would have been no place for any prisoners, and with six prisoners there could be no room for lodgers.

I was informed that it was proposed to erect a new fire station and equity part of the room now used by the fire department as a locker. As this room adjoins the court room and police headquarters the arrangement would be satisfactory. It was also stated that it was proposed to change the location of the dormitory of the firemen, in case a new fire station is not built, and install in this section of the building detention rooms. This would permit of separation of juveniles and adult females were detained at the same time.

In a report of inspection dated October 27, 1920, the following comment was made: "This jail is not modern and its location is undesirable." Again, in a report dated July 18, 1921, the jail was criticized as follows: "The jail was dirty and unkempt and showed that no one in authority was responsible for its cleanliness and care." A hose should be procured and it should be washed out daily.

When the commission approved the plans for the present jail it was with the understanding that it was to be used temporarily until such time as the city could provide a modern one. The conditions which now exist could be very much improved by keeping lodgers out of the jail and discontinuing the use of cells for storage purposes.

It is recommended:

1. That a janitor be appointed to keep the lockup clean and that he be held responsible for its condition.

2. That the room intended for lodgers be immediately made available for that purpose.

3. That the practice of storing confiscated liquor and other contraband in the cells be discontinued.

4. That sanitary waterproof mattresses be provided for the jail.

I further recommend that if the authorities do not take immediate steps to comply with these recommendations they be cited to show cause why the jail should not be closed.

Respectfully submitted,
James McC. Shillinglaw,
Inspector.

CHARTER AMENDMENTS PASS

Mayor Miller Notified That Both Measures Amending the Charter of the City of Oneonta Have Passed Legislature—Must Have Council Approval.

Mayor C. C. Miller has been notified that both of the measures amending the charter of the city of Oneonta have passed both the assembly and the senate and that as soon as they can be certified that they will be forwarded to the common council of the city for approval before being sent to the executive chamber for the approval of Governor Miller, which latter is assumed in the event of favorable action by the common council. In view of the fact that they were introduced at the request of the city officials it is assumed that they will become law as soon as the routine can be complied with.

The provisions of one of these amendments "The frequent periodical overflows of Silver, Oneonta and Glenwood creeks, whereby the public streets of Oneonta are covered with silt, gravel and debris, the public streets and bridges damaged and property along their courses destroyed, are declared to be nuisances and the city of Oneonta by its board of public works is hereby authorized and empowered to abate said nuisances. The board of public works is authorized and empowered to cause to be prepared plans and specifications for the grading of top, side wall and bottom together with all necessary and proper appurtenances therefor for the channels of said creeks or for any portion of either."

The act authorizes the board of public works to proceed with improvements after a hearing has been given upon the proposal at which all proper owners may be heard. It directs that notices, however, be sent to abutting property owners ordering them to perform said works in accordance with the specifications and in the event of their failure empowers the board of public works to proceed with the improvement. In the event the city does the work one third of the expense shall be borne by the city and two thirds by the property owners.

The city is also authorized to construct dams, silt basins and such other constructions and appurtenances as may be deemed necessary for the work. The act also provides that the assessments made upon property adjoining the creek may be paid in five equal annual payments if desired.

The second measure amends the city charter generally and among the new provisions are:

An increase in the salary of the city judge from $1,000 to $1,200.

Makes the park commissioners and the superintendent of parks officers of the city.

Authorizes the mayor with the confirmation of the common council to appoint a parole officer for the city and authorizes the common council to determine the duties and salary of such officer.

Reduces from ten to five years the time in which property owners are given in which to pay for certain local assessments for public improvements such as paving, etc.

Provides that on all taxes or assessments paid within 30 days after the first publication of notice that no fee shall be collected. This does away with the additional one per cent which the charter formerly directed should be paid.

Changes the name of the Oneonta Public Library to the Huntington Memorial Library so that but one library is maintained and that one conforms to the gift made by Henry E. Huntington and to bequests that he is to make for its maintenance.

SCHOOL CONTRACT AWARDED

Firm of Butts & Houck Will Construct New West Oneonta School Building for $14,017.

The firm of Butts & Houck was awarded the contract for building the new West Oneonta district school at a meeting of the school trustees held Saturday. The bid of the successful company was $14,017 and was the lowest of the five submitted.

Bids for the building, plans for which were prepared a year ago, were first opened on March 4 but in each case were over the amount appropriated by the district, $15,000. The board conferred with the architect, Orio Epps, and the specifications were cut down so as to bring the construction within the authorized amount.

The school building now in use will be moved off the site during the Easter vacation and work will then be commenced on the new building, which it is hoped to have completed by the middle of August. The plans call for a two room brick building with basement, the latter to be used as an auditorium and play room. Modern heating and lighting systems will be installed.

The firm of Butts & Houck, whose contract calls for the construction of every feature of the building, is composed of Howard L. Butts of this city and N. A. Houck of Cooperstown.

Clothing for Social Work.

The appeal recently made by the Family Social Work association for clothing for the needy families in the city met with generous response. Several parcels were left anonymously at the Community house and to the donors Miss Poston desires to express the thanks of the association. Clothing of any kind is always gratefully received by the association. Serviceable garments are, of course, preferred but worn articles that can be dyed and made over can be used.

BUYS THEATRE HOLDINGS

Thomas J. Maxey Purchases Stock of William C. Smalley and James J. Hyard Jr. in Smalley-Maxey Theatre Company—No Alteration in Plans for $200,000 Theatre in Business Block Here—Will Be First of Theatre Chain.

Thomas J. Maxey of Latrobe, Pa., who represents large mining interests in Pennsylvania, has purchased of William C. Smalley and James J. Hyard Jr. of Cooperstown their entire holdings in the Smalley-Maxey Theatre company, Inc., which had planned to construct a $200,000 theatre at Main street and Ford avenue, according to an announcement made yesterday by R. E. Maxey, who has been representing the interests of the corporation in this city. The name of the company, for which articles of incorporation were recently filed with Secretary of State James J. Lyons at Albany, will be changed to Maxey Theatre, Inc. There will be no alteration in the plans and work will continue to completion.

M. Maxey stated that the theatre which will be built here will be the first of a chain of theatres which the company is planning to construct in New York state and northeastern Pennsylvania. Stock in the corporation will be placed on the market at an early date.

The title to the property has been cleared and plans are all made to push the building, which will cost $200,000 and will contain two stories in addition to the theatre, to completion by Fall time. A meeting of stockholders will be held in the near future to elect officers for the new corporation.

Thomas J. Maxey, who now controls the stock of Messrs. Smalley and Hyard, was president of the Smalley-Maxey Theatre company.

New Orchestra Formed.

Spafford's orchestra is the latest addition to the city's musical organizations. Fred Spafford is the leader and will play the violin. He is also an accomplished cornetist and all who heard his solos at the Company G band concert will testify. Claude Champin plays the drums and traps, W. S. Duesler the clarinet, Mrs. Guy Fay the piano and Fred Blanchard the cornet. This organization, which is composed of some of the best known musicians in the city, is now open for engagements for dance and concert work.

Odd Fellows' Attention.

All members of Centennial lodge are requested to meet at the lodge rooms on Tuesday at 12 o'clock to attend the funeral of our late brother, Charles R. Butler, at 2 Hubbell avenue. The Odd Fellows will conduct the funeral services. advt 1t

LAST OF WELL-KNOWN FAMILY

Mrs. Mary D. Herington Dies Sunday Morning After Long Illness—Decendant of First Oneonta Physician—Funeral Tuesday Afternoon.

Mrs. Mary I. Herington, wife of the late E. M. Herington of this city, and a decendant of Dr. Joseph Lindsay, the first physician in Oneonta, died at 5:45 a. m. on Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alfred W. Carr, of 43 Ford avenue. Mrs. Herington had been in failing health for the past three years and since last October had been confined to her bed. Her demise, however, was not due to any specific malady, so much as from the gradual failure of her powers, due to advanced years.

The funeral services, which will be conducted by Rev. L. Curtis Denney of St. James' Protestant church, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Carr and interment will be made in the Hillington cemetery. Her late husband in the family plot in the Hillington cemetery at Morris. Friends are kindly requested to omit flowers.

Mrs. Herington, who was born July 27, 1835, in a house standing on Upper Main street on what is now the Glenwood cemetery property, was a daughter of the late Gilbert and Lavina (Lindsay) Campbell, and was married November 2, 1856, to E. M. Herington. Their home was for many years in Morris, but in 1884 they moved to Oneonta, which ever afterward was their home, and where surrounded by scenes and associations of her childhood, and by the loving ministrations of her immediate family, Mrs. Herington passed Sunday morning into that sleep which Christ gives to His beloved. She was a devoted member of the Protestant Episcopal church, and for long years her health permitted was most faithful in her attendance at its services and in the work of the society. She was also a charter member of the Woman's club of Oneonta. Advanced as she was in years, she was during the days of the World War active in knitting for the soldiers, and during her waking hours her hands seldom ceased from this labor of love and loyalty. Through her long illness she was patient, cheerful and uncomplaining, and throughout her whole life hers was an example of kindness of heart, of charity of thought and deed, and of serenity of spirit which will remain as a memory and an inspiration to all who knew her.

The deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Alfred W. Carr, and by three grandchildren, Mrs. William R. Walrath, Alfred W. Carr and Miss Maxie, who will be well remembered as the author of a history of the United States, afterwards translated into German for use in that country; as compiler of the Franklin series of spellers and readers, still to a considerable extent in use, and of several other books for school use. He was for four years associated with Dr. Worcester in the compilation of Worcester's dictionary, and afterwards with the Merriam company on the editorial staff of Webster's and the International dictionary, succeeding Dr. Webster as editor in chief. Another brother was Dudley M. Campbell, author of the only authoritative history of Oneonta ever written, and who is well remembered in this city, where save for a few years spent in the New York customs house, where he held a responsible position, all his life was spent. Three sisters of Mrs. Herington were Miss Ada Campbell, who resided at home, Lavina, wife of Rev. Loren Habcock, and Caroline, wife of Rev. George W. Remington. All are now deceased.

FORCED TO SACRIFICE BIG STOCK OF CLOTHING AND GENTS FURNISHINGS

J. M. STONE & COMPANY of Buffalo to dispose of the Greenberg Stock.

During the last three months business has been at a standstill in Oneonta. There is probably not a business concern along Main street that can boast of a profit. Relative to my own business I frankly admit that I have been operating at a loss. This has been due to the inability of customers from surrounding towns and villages to come to Oneonta. Highways have been blocked with snow since Christmas and as a result motor traffic ceased and Oneonta suffered.

Like other business firms, I bought my Winter and Springs goods on a 90-day credit. Ordinarily I would have been able to meet every payment as they came due—but with trade not meeting running expenses, my surplus cash soon became exhausted and I have been unable to meet present obligations. Now creditors are pressing me for the cash. As soon as they found out I had no cash the more firm they became in pressing their claims, and are now threatening to close my doors. I have always paid 100 cents on a dollar and I always mean to pay my debts in full. Now I must have cash and have it at once. I have got to raise the money. I have only one source to go to, that being from my stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing and furnishings. Therefore, I have placed my stock in the hands of J. M. Stone & Co. of Buffalo for disposal. Representatives of this firm will take over the stock today and proceed to turn it into cash. In order to accomplish raising the money, they will start a price slashing sale Thursday morning, March 16.

Watch Tuesday's Star for the advertisement which will show some of the greatest price slashings ever attempted in Oneonta. Store closed Tuesday and Wednesday.

GREENBERG

WIDOW OF CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Mrs. Almira Flansburgh, Former Resident of Hobart, Dead.

Hobart, March 12.—The body of Mrs. Almira Flansburgh, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Helen A. Norris, at West Seneca, near Buffalo, on Friday, arrived here this afternoon and was placed in the vault, for interment later in the family plot. The body was accompanied here by her only son, Edwin Flansburgh, of Perth Amboy, N. J.

Mrs. Flansburgh was the widow of Ezekiel Flansburgh, who was a veteran of the civil war, having served as a member of the 144th New York regiment. The family formerly lived at Fergusonsville and both were quite well known in northern Delaware county. Mrs. Flansburgh, who was 90 years of age, died following a shock. Since the death of her husband several years ago, Mrs. Flansburgh resided for a time in Brooklyn, but for about ten years had been at West Seneca with her daughter. The son and daughter named are the only near surviving relatives.

GENEROUS RESPONSE MADE.

First Methodist Every Member Cansassed Sunday a Success.

With the number of titlers increased to 150 within the past few weeks—a gain of nearly 50 in that time—the canvassers at work yesterday on the subscriptions for the maintenance fund of the First Methodist church, had 150 members to see and turn in their contributions. The church is so full that no titlers were given out for publication. It was said that most of those subscribing responded to the appeal for increased amounts to provide for increased activities.

The fact that the officers of the church have decided that the plate collection in the conference year ending from April 1 shall be devoted to new building fund necessitates increases from all subscribers for the regular budget. It was said that if those who remain to be seen respond as generously as those who signed yesterday, that the budget will probably be met despite the increase made for the coming year.

Dr. Johns who leaves for the annual conference at Johnson City in a few weeks, has much encouraged at the increased number of members who are titling and with the responses made yesterday by those whose subscriptions were secured.

TAYLOR COMPANY ELECTS

Mr. Taylor is President and Former Treasurer. Beams, Treasurer. Wholesale Shoe Company Recently Organized—Floyd Root, Later to Give Entire Time to Enterprise.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Floyd F. Taylor Co., Inc., the directors announced in a recent issue of The Star were elected and later at a meeting of these directors the following officers who comprise all the directors were chosen:

President—Floyd F. Taylor.
Vice President—Floyd Root.
Treasurer—Charles J. Beams.
Secretary—F. C. Huntington.

Arrangements were completed for the taking over of the retail store of Mr. Taylor on March 15th and for the continuance of that branch of the business with the addition of new lines that will give the store a more varied assortment and one that will cater more especially to those seeking quality.

As previously outlined Mr. Taylor will have immediate charge of the merchandising, looking after the buying of stock and the direction of the force of traveling salesmen. Mr. Beams will have direct charge of the finances and of the accounting department.

Mr. Huntington, while not actively identified with the business, will care for all the legal matters of the company.

Floyd Root, who enjoys a wide popularity among the merchants of this section of the state and is considered one of the most capable salesmen in the territory, will remain with the Oneonta Grocery company, with which he has been associated since its organization, until the return of Mr. Eggleston from his European trip in order not to embarrass that concern in any way.

Upon the return of Mr. Eggleston, however, he plans to retire from the position with that concern and will thereafter devote his entire time to the shoe company and will doubtless represent it upon the road in the territory over which he has traveled for years. His coming to the new enterprise is looked upon with satisfaction by his associates.

Mr. Taylor of the company leaves to day for an extended business trip to Boston, Mass., and other cities in the east, including a visit to New York city before returning, during which he expects to effect affiliation with some of the large and well known manufacturers and to perfect arrangements to represent them in this territory. The firm will add to the wholesale line several well known makes, though the names will not be announced until contracts are closed and the goods can be delivered.

In speaking of the business, Treasurer Beams expressed his satisfaction at the reception accorded the announcement of the incorporation of the company and his affiliation with it and is well pleased with the outlook for the company.

Game Forfeited to Local Team

The game at Laurens Saturday night between the town team and the team representing the First Presbyterian Sunday school of this city was forfeited to the Oneontans.

Rather rough from the outset, the game nevertheless bore prospects of a good contest, as the score at half-time stood 5-5. Then the visitors forged ahead until the score stood at 15-10. It was at this point that a controversy arose over the calling of fouls, the Oneonta boys contending that only one foul had been called against one of their men while Laurens had a different idea. The game ended in a disagreement.

The local team was composed of Shavin, Hall, Kinney, Butts, Brewster, Tanner and Countryman.

STAGE TO HAVE REAL LIGHTNING

Recent Experiments in High Voltage Make It Possible.

BIG PROBLEM FOR SCIENCE

Successful Transmission of Current of Electricity of 1,000,000 Volts Presents Wonderful Possibilities—Current May Be Carried Long Distance—Proper Insulation of Wires Principal Difficulty Remaining to Be Overcome.

Some time in the near future, when we see a theatrical spectacle wherein the hero and the heroine are caught in a violent electrical storm on the high seas and their craft is in danger of being wrecked, we will be surprised at the realistic flashes of lightning that will dart across the stage sky. It will be real lightning, such as you see in a thunderstorm after a hot summer's day, according to a New York Sun writer.

Recently experiments on the generation and transmission of a current of electricity of 1,000,000 volts were crowned with success. The discharge of this current through the air between needle points six feet apart gave a good imitation of the real lightning, although the voltage in a lightning discharge has been estimated to be fifty times greater, or 50,000,000 volts, according to the eminent electrical engineer, Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz.

The practical value of these experiments does not appear at first glance, perhaps, but it is not limited to imitation lightning on the stage. Electricity is a strange thing to most of us. It is not a substance, like water or coal, but a form of energy. Even the great scientists and electrical experts have a great deal of difficulty in explaining what electricity is; all they can tell you is what it does and how it behaves under different conditions.

How Current is Produced.

Electricity is energy. When water falls from a height by the time it reaches the bottom it has gained power to do certain things. If it is caught in buckets and these buckets are fastened to a wheel, then the force of the falling water will make that wheel turn, producing power. This power may be sufficient for the plant at that place. Transplanting the power to distant places is another problem.

This is done by the use of the electric current. If we connect the water wheel to a generator or dynamo then the turning of the armature, which is the rotating part of the generator, will produce a current. That is really all that is known about the subject as far as the basic causes are concerned.

The current is transported from place to place through wires. The flow of the current through these wires is very much like the flow of water through pipes. The pressure behind the water causing it to flow along the pipe corresponds to the voltage in the current. The voltage is what makes the current flow through the wire between two points and the current will flow only when one of these points has a lower voltage than the other. To send the current a certain distance a certain voltage must be used.

Higher Voltage Increases Power. In the pipe there is a resistance to the flow of water. This resistance is furnished by the walls of the pipe. In the same way there is a resistance to the flow of the current through the wires. The voltage must always be strong enough to overcome this resistance or else the current will not flow. If the pressure behind the water in the pipe is not strong enough to overcome the resistance of the pipe walls, then when we turn the faucet no water will flow. When we turn the switch no current will flow under the same condition.

When Edison first operated his electric service lines in New York city he used 110 volts and then 220 volts to send the current over comparatively short distances. At the present time on certain long-distance lines in southern California the voltage behind the current is 220,000 volts.

The new discoveries which have led to the interesting novelty of man-made lightning have a far greater significance in this connection. If it is possible to perfect means of properly insulating the wires which will carry 1,000,000 volts, then the electricity that is generated at Niagara Falls and the St. Lawrence river can be conveyed possibly to the Rockies or to Florida and used there to turn the wheels of industry.

ANOTHER SOUTH SIDE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Conrow Entertain at Dancing Party on Fifth Wednesday Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Conrow entertained nearly 75 of their friends and neighbors at an anniversary party last Friday evening at their pleasant South Side home. The occasion was the fifth anniversary of their marriage.

The early part of the evening was passed with social intercourse and Mr. and Mrs. Conrow were congratulated on their anniversary day. Later all proceeded to the ball room, where dancing was in order until the small hours of the morning. An Oneonta orchestra furnished music, and a fine time was enjoyed. Both modern and square dances were on the program, so that there was something to suit everybody. One of the most entertaining features of the night was an old-fashioned dance participated in by the older couples who certainly enjoyed the dance, as did the spectators. About 12:30 there was an intermission when delicious refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Conrow.

It was nearly daylight when the happy gathering departed for their home, unanimous in the opinion that Mr. and Mrs. Conrow were ideal entertainers. In addition to friends from South Side and Oneonta city, guests were present at the party from Bainbridge, Unadilla, Delhi, Davenport, East Meredith and Davenport Center.
